

BEDFORD PUBLIC SCHOOLS

www.bedfordps.org

The Bedford Public Schools serves a racially and socio-economically diverse student population of approximate 2600 students, including students from Boston who participate in the METCO voluntary desegregation program, and at the high school, students from neighboring Hanscom Air Force Base. As a relatively small district, we are a nimble organization that is continually improving and sees, in its teacher leaders, the greatest promise for change.

With four schools serving grades PreK-2, 3-5, 6-8 and 9-12, we proudly deliver a coherent and well-articulated curriculum through student-centered, “minds-on” instruction that prioritizes critical and creative thinking and increasing student independence. Well resourced, particularly in the area of instructional technology, our schools are centers of project-based learning, research and authentic assessment.

With our co-teaching model and our wide range of in-house special education programs, we take an inclusive approach to serving students with learning or emotional disabilities. We also have significant population of English Language Learners, who together speak over 50 languages.

We are deeply committed to achieving educational equity for all of our students, with a particular emphasis on closing racially based opportunity gaps. Ongoing professional development in anti-racism practices and culturally responsive teaching, our district-wide Equity and Diversity Committee, our Interracial Parent Advisory Committee, our affinity groups, our Tenacity Challenge (www.tenacitychallenge.com) and Calculus Projects all contribute to closing gaps, to creating safe spaces for all of our students to take intellectual risks, and to building bridges across racial differences. Improving upon this work continues to be one of our core missions.
